ALL HAULING DONE BY HAND

Draft Animals, Except the Human Kind, Are Absolutely Unknown in Mombasa.

There are no horses or draft animals in Mombasa; the fly is too deadly. Therefore all hauling is done by hand. The tiny tracks of the unique street-car system run everywhere any one would wish to go, branching off even into private grounds and to the very front doors of bungalows situated far out of town. Each resident owns his own street car, just as elsewhere a man has his own carriage. There are, of course, public cars also, each with its pair of boys to push it, and also a number of rather decrepit rickshaws. As a natural corollary to the passenger traffic, the freighting also is handled by the blacks on large, flat trucks with short guiding poles. These men are quite naked save for a small loin cloth; are beautifully shaped and glisten all over from the perspiration shining in the sun. So fine is the texture of their skins, the softness of their color, so rippling the play of muscles, that this shining perspiration is like a beautiful polish. They push from behind, slowly and steadily and patiently and unwaveringly, the most tremendous loads of the heaviest stuffs. When the hill becomes too steep for them they turn their backs against the truck and by placing one foot behind the other, a few inches at a time, they edge their burden up the slope.—Stewart Edward White, in Harper's Magazine.

HOW HE ACQUIRED BLACK EYE

Humiliating Mark of Personal Conflict Made Automobileist Something of a Hero.

"You, sir," he said to the man with the black eye who sat down beside him in the street car, "are an automobileist?"

"I am," was the reply.

"You were out on the road the other day speeding at the rate of 40 miles an hour?"

"No, I was only going 10."

"You found yourself about to run over someone, and you steered the machine into a lamp post to prevent. That's the way you got your black eye."

"Oh, it came easier than that," laughed the victim. "I was passing a farmhouse at 10 miles an hour when I saw that I was about to run over a chicken. I kept on, and the chicken was killed. I came back that way an hour later and the farmer and his two sons held me up and blacked my eye."

"But you didn't pay for the chicken?"

"No, sir. I took a $10 licking rather than pay 20 cents of a chicken."

"A difference of $9.70. Sir, your hand. You are a hero. A halo of romance surrounds, but why the devil don't you put beefsteak on your eye and take the black out?"

Uncle Sam prevented the summary execution of Felix Diaz, by Madero last fall. Your Uncle Sam is slow in meddling in the affairs of other nations. He couldn't stay the bloody hands of the new Mexican rulers.

If President Huerta of Mexico is as dangerous as he looks in newspaper pictures the Mexicans who oppose him will have no fun when he gets them into his clutches.

The Best Bargain You Ever Made

HOW do you measure the value of a bargain? Suppose you bought an engine that did practically all of your hardest work for you, sawing, pumping, grinding, etc., and that saved so much money that it soon paid for itself. Would you call that a good bargain?

An IHC engine will do all that, and more. Having paid for itself, it works steadily year after year until, like our Clay County friend who has used an IHC engine for six years, you will say, "My IHC engine is the best bargain I ever made."

IHC Oil and Gas Engines

are thoroughly dependable, and unusually durable. The fine-grained, grey iron cylinders and pistons are worked together to a perfect fit. Ground-piston rings insure maximum power from the explosion. The fuel mixer is the most effective known. Bearings are large and carefully fitted. No part is too heavy to be efficient, yet every part is simply strong.

IHC engines are made in all styles—vertical and horizontal; portable and stationary; air and water-cooled; in sizes from 1 to 50-horse power, to operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, distillate, kerosene or alcohol. Oil tractors, 12 to 60-horse power, for plowing, threshing, etc.; grinding, sawing, pumping and spraying outfits, complete the line.

The IHC local dealer will show you all the good points of the IHC engine. Get catalogue from him, or write
